

Ryan Coon has served on the City Council since March 2018. She continues to be passionate about thoughtful growth of Dallas Center and responsible planning and spending allowing the city to remain in a proactive rather than reactive state financially.

Prior to joining City Council, Ryan's community leadership included 3 years on the Dallas Center Seasonal Fun Committee; 4 years as DC First Presbyterian Church Youth Group Leader; 3 years as DC First Presbyterian Church Session Elder; and 6 months on Dallas Center Planning and Zoning prior to being appointed to Council. She currently serves as a Council Liaison for the Library Board and Parks & Recreation Board.

Ryan was born and raised in Dallas Center. She graduated from Dallas Center-Grimes in 1997. After high school Ryan went on to Iowa State University where she earned a Communications degree.

Ryan currently works as a Business Support Manager. This role, as well as previous roles with other companies, has given her the opportunity to become involved in business continuity planning and disaster recovery. She has had to deploy documented plans a handful of times. Each time provides a learning opportunity to help understand what improvements can be made to the plan for real world situations.

Ryan and her husband Corey love to go camping with their dog Otis and take road trips. Their two favorite vacation spots are Okoboji and Estes Park, CO.
